

We settled at Bosmelet. Henriette, my mother-in-law was not pleased. My opinion about my grandfather's mother, Henriette Soyer, has radically changed. I had thought her to be anti-Semitic but in examining her life more closely I find she had Jewish friends. Henriette did not approve of her second Daughter-in-Law for other reasons, Diana was not Catholic nor the right wife for her son. Later after the war Henriette became close to her granddaughter, my mother H  l  ne de Bosmelet, and I discovered that the two of them shared many secrets. They had close relationship just as I had with my own grandmother. I share more of her life in Gentien the Corporal. Keep clicking to find out more.
